AMENDMENTS MADE TO SOIL ACT

Science has been digging around to ascertain how much truth, if any, there is in the old adage "early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise," and has come to the conclusion that there is in it more rhyme than reason.

Actual experiments convinced scientists that the first few hours of day are not productive in mental work and that muscular efforts are apt to be more clumsy in the early morning than later in the day. They found men and women who can work and think faster and better late at night than early in the morning.

Like most adages, this old saying reflects the conditions and opinions of the time of its creation. Its author lived in the day when man lighted his nocturnal way with candles and, because of scarcity and high cost found it necessary to teach and practice economy in their use. Then, more than now frugality was synonymous with wisdom.

No doubt the old adage was also destined to promote other virtues. Early to bed precluded all patronage of what passed for the night clubs of that day and meant no buggy riding with the reins wrapped around the whip. Virtue is admirable and desirable, but practicing it for its own reward was probably no more widespread then than today. Therefore the hope of health, wealth and wisdom had to be used as a decoy to win society to the virtuous habit of retiring and rising early.

Poultry and peasants still follow the ancient rule, but philosophers never have and, due to radio, the theatre and movies, books and other reasons for keeping late hours, few urbanites now do.

The simple truth of the matter is that something has to be done about the basement. No one has ever discovered why a basement gets that way; no commission has bent its analytical perceptions on the subject. So far as the householder can tell, a basement just naturally like that; magazines and newspapers walk down the stairs and pile themselves all over the place; discarded lamps foregather

"COLLEEN"

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler lead
Cast in Sparkling Musical Comedy.

They starred together in "42nd Street;" they came again in "Flirtation Walk," and still again in "Shipmates Forever." Now they are coming in the best yet, "Colleen."

When it was announced that Warner Brothers had a new musical, in which were not only Powell and Miss Keeler, but Jack Oakie and Joan Blondell, Hugh Herbert and Louise Fazenda, together with the stage's greatest dancer, Paul Draper, were to be starred, the success of the picture was assured in advance.

The plot of "Colleen" is evenly blended with comedy, romance, and drama, revealing more of a plot than the ordinary musical, making this Powell-Keeler combination the greatest of the season.

"Colleen," directed by Alfred E. Green, is rich in its unique settings and scenery, displaying all the new designs of glass furniture and the latest mode in wearing apparel.

At the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday May 17 and 18.

Vote Disappointing In Sweetheart Poll

Fear that the Band Sweetheart Contest would not only be a financial failure but fail to register popular choice, was expressed here Tuesday as tabulation was made on the votes cast. Balloting has been poor.

The contest closes on Friday May 22nd at 6 p. m. The contestant receiving the highest number of votes will be declared the Sweetheart of the Cameron Band.

The Band Parents Association directing the contest expressed hope that the citizens would rally to the support of the plan and cast a liberal total of votes. Each vote is paid for at the rate of 5 cents and cast for your choice. Based upon the total shown to date, the plan to select a Sweetheart has attracted far too little interest.

The voting will positively close on May 22nd at 6 p. m. No more nominations are now permitted.

The band is facing a crisis in its financial affairs. Unless funds are raised at once, the standing of the band will be lowered as new instruments must be purchased. Uniforms also must be purchased.

An appeal is being made to every loyal citizen of Cameron.

RAPE INDICTMENT RETURNED BY JURY

Cecil Lucas of Bell County, has been indicted by a Milam County Grand Jury for rape and in two cases for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

He was arrested in Bell County by Sheriff Kennedy and brought back to Cameron and placed in jail, following the assault. The grand jury, in session since May 1, promptly indicted him, and Mr. Camp has announced his intention of conducting a vigorous prosecution in the case.

SOFT BALL LEAGUE IS PROPOSED HERE

Organization of a Soft Ball League for Cameron is now being discussed by a number of the younger business men and invitation is extended to the citizens to join in the movement to insure its success.

Soft Ball for business men has become a widely patronized game in as much as it affords them opportunity for recreation after business hours.

Hayden Lawrence of the Cameron Ice and Cold Storage Company, has been active in promoting the league and Tuesday said that at least 5 teams have been assured for the city.

Yoemen lighted field will be used he said, with a small admission charge, the proceeds to go to the athletic funds or to the school. With this arrangement it would be an ideal arrangement to launch the league he said.

A meeting is to be held soon for the purpose of organizing.

Many towns in central Texas have organized and are supporting well these Soft Ball leagues.

Such a league in Cameron will not only give fun and recreation but will be the means of financial support to worthy causes at the school.

Huson Ables Buys Drug Business In City of Lampasas

Huson Ables left Cameron Saturday for Lampasas where he entered business in a partnership to be known as the Ables and Wilson Drug Company.

Mr. Ables has purchased a half interest in the business at Lampasas. He is a native of Falls County, born at Rosebud.

PEANUT NOT FOR MARKET

According to information from the State Committee on Soil Conservation, which was received by George Banzhaf, County Agent, several important amendments have been made to the former rulings relating to the program.

All land under the same ownership and in one block can now be covered by a Master Work Sheet. Suitable application and compliance forms will take care of the pro-ration of the proceeds to all interested parties.

The ruling regarding interplanting of feed crops and legumes has been amended as follows: Two rows of corn or grain sorghums planted with one row of cowpeas or similar legume will count two-thirds soil depleting crop and one-third soil conserving crop.

Black-eyed peas are considered cowpeas. If harvested for canning or processing, however, they are considered as a commercial truck crop, and are classed as soil depleting. Of course, farmers are allowed to harvest such peas for home feed, food or seed. In no case can be diverted acres planted to these crops, be contracted to commercial concerns and the products sold. In such cases black-eyed peas take the same classification as soy beans sold to oil mill crushers (soil depleting).

The final date for filing Work Sheets with the County Agent has been set for Saturday, May 23, 1936. Farmers should not expect another extension. Each farmer in the county should file a Work Sheet.

GEO. BANZHAF, County Agent.

76 AND STILL DRIVES HIS FIRST CHEVROLET

Wallace Stark, age 76, who reached the age limit and was retired in 1924 after many years in the United States Indian Service, is still driving his first car, a 1926 Chevrolet. It hasn't reached the retirement age he says. Stark, on a recent visit to Detroit, told Chevrolet executives of the record of his car, which has been almost everywhere in the United States.

Stark's four-cylinder coupe has been licensed every year since he bought it, but never twice in succession in the same state. This year it has a Florida tag.

"Dealers often ask me to trade it in on a new model," he said, "but I always tell them they're better off having this old timer on the streets, runnin' fine, and looking good, as an advertisement of Chevrolet's durability."

No matter where he goes, Stark carries certain items of special equipment not to be found on many cars. Strapped to the back bumper is a long handled shovel; on the running board are two galvanized iron cans for drinking water. They are for emergency use only, in the desert. If he should be stalled, far from a traveled route, he explains, he would set out on foot, carrying his drinking water with him. He has never had to use his emergency water supply, but the shovel has been a life saver. He has been mired or snowbound many times, and had to dig himself out.

Ten years driving without an accident is Stark's record. He has gone off the road, and down into the gullies, in traversing roads not designed for motor cars, but he has avoided crashes and collisions by careful driving and by watching out for "the other fellow."

Out west, he once read a road sign saying "Drive carefully—you might meet a fool." He always followed that advice, and says he has met many fools but avoided trouble because he was expecting them.

Stark was born in Iowa 76 years ago. In 1892, he went into what is now Utah to work as a carpenter on the erection of an Indian school. He was 125 miles from the nearest railroad, which he saw only once in his first nine years there. In 1905 he entered the United States Indian Service at a reservation near Colorado-Utah boundary. The Indians were Utes. Stark liked Indians, and they liked him because he understood them. They gave him a name, Phatim, meaning "high up"—a title of respect and an indication of his appearance, because Stark was 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall. Americans misunderstood the word Phatim and made it into Patsy Jim. Then, Indians, hearing the white men say Patsy Jim, thought it must be his real name, so they called him Patsy Jim too.

Stark is retired from active service, but he's as active as many a youngster. He travels around all over while a niece in Drakesville, Iowa, receives and forwards his mail to him. He spent the winter in Florida, and enroute north stopped off in Washington and had a reunion with army officers, now stationed there in high ranking positions, who were lieutenants and captains when Stark knew them out west.

Cameron As Produce Market Praised By Publisher Agent

Mr. White, crew manager in the circulation department of the Curtis Publishing Company (Saturday Evening Post and Country Gentleman) paid a compliment to this city when he stated it had long had the reputation of being one of the highest non-consumer markets on poultry and eggs in the state.

Of course, poultry raisers might easily take things for granted and be unaware of any difference, but this man travels extensively for his company and has had opportunity to compare, having occasion to sell at Georgetown, Taylor, Temple, La-Grange, Giddings, and other points over the state.

Cameron has more than the usual number of produce houses for a place its size—Fairmont, with a branch house located here. Swift and Armour both with resident buyers, and the local firm of Green Produce Co., operating independent of the packers.

It is Mr. White's policy to sell to the highest bidder, and it happens he has for the past several years sold exclusively to Green Produce Co., while working this territory, and even when in adjacent territory he has often had his men drive back a considerable distance in order to avail themselves of the better Cameron market.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE MAKES APRIL REPORT

During the month of April I visited 13 schools, inspected 10 schools and 260 pupils. 342 defects were found. 190 children were defective, leaving only 78 children free of defects. 91 had enlarged tonsils and red throats, 114 had bad teeth and 25 bad gums. 60 had weak eyes and red eye lids, 54 bad vision, 25 bad posture, 20 pale and underweight, 12 skin trouble, 15 suspected adenoids, 1 child slightly hard of hearing.

200 visits made which included prenatal visits, child welfare, crippled children, schools, school children, tuberculosis, social service and cases in general. 38 persons have come to my office for information and advice.

One patient had gone to State sanatorium for tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is on the increase. 4000 persons died in Texas last year from tuberculosis. This is an average of 11 a day. Tuberculosis can be cured if taken in time and given the proper treatment. That is why we urge every one to have a physical examination from his doctor at least once a year.

More than 25,000,000 tuberculin tests have been given to cattle in the United States. As the drive against tuberculosis among cattle has gone forward the disease has declined steadily.

Why not do the same for your children?

Four doctors co-operated with us in our work this month, which we appreciated.

Louis Jurcak, high scoring poultry judge in the recent A & M College F F A contest, may win a year's scholarship to Texas A & M College next year, the Bryan and Brazos county Chamber of Commerce having made the scholarship available for one of the high point individuals at this year's contest. Nine contests are held at the College each spring. From this number the high school seniors will be selected, and the school records, Future Farmers training, and personality of the high scorers will be taken into consideration in selecting the best individual from the group of nine.

This week, information about Jurcak's school record, supervised practice and F F A Work, and other data was sent to E. R. Alexander of the Teacher Training Dept., Texas A & M College by E. D. Parnell, Vocational Agricultural teacher. As soon as these records are compared, the

TEAMWORK

It seems that almost everything we do calls for some form of team work. A very good example of a case where team work is needed is a play which the seventh grade is going to have at the end of school.

Since this is the Centennial year, the play is going to be about Texas History. Raymond Lesikar is the "director general," but he can't do it all. He must have a manager for each of the nine scenes in the play, and he must have different people to take the parts of the different characters. I know he will get all the help he needs from members of the seventh grade who want this thing to succeed. He will get good team work, too. Without the latter, it would be a grand flop, and so would all other things that take more than one person to do them.

Capital Loans

—are not the proper field for commercial banking operations.

CAPITAL loans are those which remain fixed in the borrower's business for long or indefinite periods. Such loans perform a useful, necessary, business function, but, obviously, are not the proper field for commercial banking operations.

The commercial bank makes loans of short-term, or seasonal duration, to carry on current business activities whose cash proceeds are sufficient within a specified period to repay the loan. The daily maturing of such loans—and new deposits—normally bring in sufficient cash to meet the daily requirements of depositors and to make fresh loans.

In addition to commercial loans, this bank holds conservative securities readily marketable for cash on established exchanges. Likewise, it requires that the collateral for secured loans be equally marketable.

portrayals of 1932 in the film "Bad Girl." Now they return to win the public acclaim again in "Don't Get Personal."

The story begins with a laughable situation that gets more uproarious as it goes along. Here is the sort of light, care-free entertainment that you will enjoy and remember for weeks after you see it. At the Cameron Theatre Thursday May 14.

"THIRTEEN HOURS BY AIR"

"Thirteen Hours by Air" is a thrilling aviation drama which opens Friday May 15 at the Cameron Theatre with Fred MacMurray and Joan Bennett in the leading roles. Action—excitement—thrills—romance—are all aboard a great transcontinental air liner as it zooms across the country from New York to San Francisco! It is a story of eight people living thirteen adventurous hours 10,000 feet above the earth—of a pilot with a murderer on his trail, a girl on his mind, and a plane to bring to 'Frisco on time! MacMurray and Miss Bennett head a cast which also includes Zasu Pitts, John Howard, Bennie Bartlett, Grace Bradley, Alan Baxter, Brian Donlevy, Ruth Donnelly and Fred Keating. "Thirteen Hours By Air" is one of the most exciting and adventurous films of the month. Don't miss it. Friday and Saturday!

"CALL OF THE PRAIRIE"

Hopalong Cassidy and Johnny Nelson are in the saddle again! They are riding to town in the most exciting of all their movie adventures in a picture entitled "Call of the Prairie," which will be at the Milam Theatre Friday and Saturday May 15 and 16. The picture was based on Mulford's novel, "Hopalong Cassidy's Portage," and it brings back William Boyd in the role of "Hopalong," with Jimmy Ellison again playing Johnny Nelson, "Hoppy's" young cow-poke pal.

There is plenty of action, excitement, hard riding, straight shooting, and of course, plenty of romance, furnished by Jimmy Ellison and the beautiful Muriel Evans.

"TIMES SQUARE PLAY BOY"

"Times Square Playboy," with Warren William and June Travis, a rollicking Warner Brothers comedy, filled with tense drama and heart interest as well as laughs, based on the famous Broadway hit, "Home Towners," by George M. Cohan, comes to the Cameron Theatre Tuesday, May 19.

"THE UNGUARDED HOUR"

Do you know where you were two weeks ago, between the hours of five and six in the evening? Could you produce four witnesses to prove your whereabouts?

Sir Alan Dearden was arrested for murder and he couldn't answer the questions or produce the witnesses—yet he was innocent!

That's the dramatic situation in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Mystery melodrama, "The Unguarded Hour," coming to the Cameron Theatre Wednesday May 20.

Franchot Tone, as the English prosecutor who is arrested for murder, is teamed with Loretta Young, in the role of his wife.

The production, directed by Sam Wood, is filled with the intrigue of a man's past that is bared to the world in a courtroom by his wife who is trying to save his life.

Heading the strong supporting cast are Lewis Stone, Roland Young, Jessie Ralph, Dudley Digges, Henry Daniell, Robert Greig, Alleen Pringle and others.

It's a thriller from start to finish.

HEFLEY-DOSSETT, INSURANCE

Star of "Three Men On A Horse in a New Spring Ensemble

SHIRLEY BOOTH, pert star of the uproarious comedy, "Three Men On A Horse," now in its second year on Broadway, is shown here in "The Bride's House" wearing a smart new Spring ensemble. Her hat of natural colored straw reflects the Paris trend, its chic quality emphasized by a short, stiff veil and a blue ribbon bow. The dress is a gay navy print, with a cluster of flowers at the neck, and Miss Booth's fur-trimmed coat is beige in color, of coarse basket-weave design. Her shoes are of the new navy gabardine with calf trim outlined in white. The heels are scuffless. Beige gloves to complement a dark calf purse complete Miss Booth's smart ensemble, which is suitable for both town and country wear.

OUR FADED FLOWER

(In Memory of Mrs. Ray Miller)

The Angel of Death spread his wings Mid regions of light far away. None but the fairest and the best I'll take in my reaping today.

He sped on the soft summer breeze To our dear one sweetly at rest. Come with me thou slumbering one Fairest of fair and best of best.

Oh, we miss the merry laughter And kind words of our loved one gone Sweet memories they will be, While coming years pass sadly on.

Her life was like the summer shower, That o'er yon distant woodland lies; 'Tis a gleam of silver brightness But fades and leaves dark lowering skies.

Oh, thou cruel Angel of Death, To take our flower so fair from us, And bring sad throbs to fondest hearts

And bright hopes low in the dust.

There's a place beyond for everyone Whose hearts are so loving and pure. Oh, may we strive and live That haven of rest to secure.

We shall meet our loved one over there;

Meet to part never more again In that land where sad hearts are not. Yes, we'll meet our loved one again.

Mrs. Ray Miller was laid to rest in the Liberty cemetery Friday afternoon. The floral offerings were beautiful. Our sympathy is extended to the entire family.

Texas Officers Train Marines For Lone Star Centennial

Qantico, Va., —Under the watchful eyes of three Marine Corps officers from Texas, a hand-picked detachment of sea soldiers are going through their paces here daily in preparation for the Texas Centennial Exposition, scheduled to open at Dallas, on June 6.

The Texans who are supervising the special drills and maneuvers which will be used during the exposition ceremonies are, Captain A. H. Butler, of El Paso, First Lieutenant G. H. Cloud, of Rogers, and Second Lieutenant B. H. Hochmuth of Houston.

In addition to the three Texas marine officers, more than a dozen enlisted men from various sections of the State have been selected to take part in the celebration. The Marines remember that Texas contributed about 2,500 men to their ranks during the World War.

Visitors to the fair will have an opportunity to see the company of officers and men comprising the detachment, stage the colorful guard mounts and parades which are a part of the Marine Corps' military ritual. A special marine band will also accompany the detachment to take part in the various ceremonies.

For years the Laternecks have played a prominent part in the most famous of these exhibitions. In 1878, a company of them attended the Universal Exposition in Paris, and then made a return visit to the French capital in 1889. Since then they have taken part in the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, the Jamestown (Va.) Celebration, the Brazilian Exposition at Rio de Janeiro, the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia, and more recently the World's Fair at Chicago in 1933-34.

An interesting Marine Corps exhibit is being planned for the Federal Building, depicting the many phases of Marine history and activities, as an added attraction to the complement of sea soldiers who will be in attendance.

Are You From Texas?

(Sung to the tune of "Are You From Dixie")

Why hello there stranger! How do you do?
I beg your pardon, but I don't know you.
Don't be surprised; you're recognized.
You're no detective?
No; I just surmise
That you're from the place that I long to be.
Your smilin face seems to say to me
You're from my own land; that sunny home land,
Tell me, can it be?

Are you from Texas—I said from Texas,
Where the fields of bluebonnets beckon to me?
There are sweet potatoes, pears and tomatoes,
And oranges sweet as can be.
Are you from Texarkana, Amarillo, San Antone?
Why any place in Texas seems like home sweet home.
Then you're from Texas—I said from Texas,
And I'm from Texas too.

I was born away down in that sunny land
Somewhere between Red River and the Rio Grande.
There's one thing certain,
You're truly flirting with those south bound trains.
Are you from Texas—I said from Texas,
Where the fields of blue bonnets beckon to me.
There are grapes and berries, red plums and cherries,
And peaches ripe on the tree.
Are you from Texarkana, Amarillo, San Antone?
Why any place in Texas seems like home sweet home.
Then you're from Texas—I said from Texas,
And I'm from Texas too.

Magnolia Lounge For Centennial

Dallas, May 12—Planned to typify the friendliness of the Southwest and the picturesque history of its various sections, the Magnolia Lounge is rapidly approaching completion on the Central Exposition Grounds of the Texas Centennial. Fred M. Lege, Jr., vice president in charge of marketing for Magnolia Petroleum Company, announced this week. A two-story building of ultra-modern design, completely air-conditioned by its own 20-ton refrigeration plant, and an adjoining cactus garden will provide a unique method of restful entertainment for weary sightseers and will represent an expenditure of more than $75,000, Mr. Lege said.

Magnolia Lounge will offer a glimpse of the past and the present of the five states of Magnolia and a sample of Texas hospitality. All Centennial visitors will be invited to relax in cool comfort, among the interesting surroundings, as guests of the Southwest's first petroleum producing, refining and marketing organization.

Entering the Central Centennial Exposition grounds through the Grand Avenue entrance, visitors will find Magnolia Lounge near the Hall of Natural History, Fine Arts Gallery and other buildings in the civic and cultural group which surround a spacious lagoon. The approach to the building, an extensive terrace, is to be planted with many rare species of cactus native to the Southwest, with each plainly marked to show its nature, locale and history. The building itself is of stucco on concrete with hollow tile walls. An elevated promenade deck reached by an outside stairway extends over a sheltered area on the ground floor and will be equipped with comfortable chairs and tables for guests. Beautiful interior decorations and furnishings are by Neiman-Marcus of Dallas. Rest rooms for men and women will be handsomely finished in exotic marble and tile.

In the spacious lounge room where comfortable seats for 100 persons will be provided, continuous talking motion pictures will be projected on a translucent screen in such a manner that they will be clearly visible while the room remains lighted. Throughout the past year Magnolia has been producing these pictures with the utmost care in order to give Centennial visitors a true picture of the Southwest as it is today with a historical background depicting its romantic past.

Completely non-commercial, the Magnolia Lounge has been planned in every detail solely to give the Centennial visitors a comfortable rendezvous where they may rest and at the same time become better acquainted with the great Southwest of yesterday and today. Magnolia invites Centennial visitors to "Be our guests and rest at the Magnolia Lounge."

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theodor's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

APPRECIATION OF MUSIC

Music dwells on one as a great habit. Music is a melody or harmony of pleasing sounds. It differs from all other arts. It has been said to be "the fourth need of man—food, clothing, shelter—then music." Music has been an important factor in history since the very beginning. It acts upon the soul as some drug; by this I mean that it makes you forget all your worries and makes you happy and pleasant when you are within hearing distance of it.

Every one can not be a musician, but we can learn what music is about, because times have changed and it is now a part of our educational work.

In connection with the Texas Centennial, it is interesting here to call attention to the pioneers of Texas in music. There were first the Indian songs which were followed by the Spanish and French songs; then the ones we are most interested in are our dear old familiar tunes which originated in the Pioneer Days of our forefathers when they were roaming our Texas Plains. Texas has its share of music composers.

A "Music Period" was set aside Friday in order to observe music week, which is always the first week in May.

The program was as follows:
Appreciation of Music—Dorothy Worley.

Piano Solo—Sarah J. Yeager.
Vocal Duet—Irene Fulcher and Ruby Alta Starnes.

Vocal Duet—Lillian and Bobbie Garner.

Group Singing—Second Grade.
String Quartette—San Gabriel High School Boys.

Song and Dance—Billy J. Locklin.
Piano Solo—Mary Ruth Norman.

Group Singing—Lead by Mrs. Culp and accompanied on piano by Miss Griffith.

In connection with the observance of Music Week, the students in some of the elementary grades gave us their idea of what music meant to them. The staff is very happy to have these little reports from these students, and we surely thank the students and their teachers. The sentences below are just as the little fellows wrote them.

I like to hear music. Music is pretty. I wish I knew how to play a violin. I will know how to play a violin when I get big.

Luella Bice, Primer.

I like music because it is so pretty. I like music because it makes me happy. I like music because when I am working if I sing, I will get thru with the work quicker. When I get into trouble, if I sing, I will forget my troubles. I know a song about "Get Yourself a Broom and Sweep Your Troubles Away." If you sing this song, it will make you happy. I like to hear anybody sing. I also like to hear little birds sing.

Hubbard Faulkner, Second Grade.

I like to hear music because it makes me happy. I like the piano music and the fiddle. I like to hear the drum's music. I like to hear the violin because it is sweet. I like the virolo because it is sweet.

Helen Fojt, Second Grade.

I like music. Music is good. I want to be a drummer. I like to sing.

Ethel Clark, Primer.

I like music from a violin best because it seems to make me lose myself. Music makes me happy and I always enjoy hearing music. I think the violin is very effective.

Mary Elizabeth Conn, Fifth Grade.

With the songs of the birds in the early spring, our hearts are made glad. The first bird to come to us in the spring is the robin. The song the robin sings is "Cheer up, cheer, cheer!" I like his songs. When one so small as the robin can cheer us on our way, how much more can the songs and music of the people about us cheer us. The bird is happy when he sings; we can be happy, too, when we sing.

Ouida Baird, Fourth Grade.

TRIBUTE TO JOE ALTWEIN

The San Gabriel High School Faculty and entire student body wish to express their heartfelt sympathy to the relatives and dearest associates of Joe Altwein.

Although his presence among us was short-lived, Joe Altwein won for himself a place in the heart of every San Gabriel High School student and teacher, and we feel that our bereavement is as sincere as that of the closest relatives.

Therefore through the intense grief and bereavement for his passing was inevitable, the students who so loved this big-hearted, generous and ever encouraging man, feel that the world today is a better place because Joe Altwein has lived.

Faculty and Students of San Gabriel High School.

SOPHOMORE-SENIOR BANQUET

The Sophomores had as their guests at a banquet Thursday night, May 7, the six seniors, the senior sponsor, Miss Gilchrist, the Superintendent of the school, Mr. T. N. Wood, and two trustees, Mr. Jamie Clark and Mr. E. M. Case.

The table was decorated with the rainbow color scheme, which are the class colors, and the class flower, sweetpeas. The place cards which cleverly fit the occasion, were little Books of Knowledge, also being of the class colors.

Madam Toastmaster, Dorothy Worley, began the program by giving an original toast to the seniors. Then, with a compliment, she gave each of the girls a corsage of sweet peas, and the men a boutonniere. Then Dorothy asked Sarah Yeager to give a tribute to the Seniors entitled "What We Lose When We Lose Seniors."

This was followed with a response by the senior class president, Miss Ruby Alta Starnes. After the second course

Dorothy asked for the class motto, which was given by Dorothy Anness. The entire sophomore class made individual remarks about the seniors according to their chosen motto "Not To The Heights, But Climbing," which were all of poetry. Every guest was called upon to say something.

When everyone was thoroughly satisfied by having food for the stomach and pleasure for the mind, Dorothy asked the group to stand while she rendered a prayer to the Seniors.

This ended the gay affair—the first banquet to ever be given to a graduating class in the San Gabriel school.

SENIORS APPRECIATION

We, the Senior Class of 1936, wish to express our most sincere thanks and appreciation to our beloved Sophomore Class, who were hosts to a most successful Senior-Sophomore Banquet, which was held at Gants' Cafe in Thorndale Tuesday night, May 7.

The banquet was a surprise to the Seniors, from the beginning to the end, and we did appreciate this great event.

May we take this little space, To tell you all today,

The banquet was one of "style" and "grace."

An dwill be remembered until our dying day.

Although we leave the Sophomores

When this toilsome year is through

Our love for you is just "galore,"

And again we say "Thank You."

—The Seniors.

The children did exceedingly well in the group singing and each one enjoyed the afternoon in the park.

We wish to express appreciation for the hospitality shown us by Cameron. We enjoyed the music furnished by the C. H. Yoe High School band.

FARM CLUB NEWS

A helpful hint on the use of clay for refinishing old walls of houses was given by Mrs. Lester White to members of the Briary Home Demonstration Club at a recent meeting.

Mrs. White explained that she used a white or very light colored clay from the hill side and mixed water to make a mixture of a paint consistency and applied with a brush. After the walls were dry, she brushed with a broom will move the excess clay.

Hackberry wood is an excellent material for making wooden paddles for stirring chili, soups or other foods cooked in quantities, reports Mrs. H. Plate of the Duncan Home Demonstration Club. There will not be an odor or taste coming from the wood, when the hackberry is used, Mrs. Plate explained.

Canned chicken makes summer meals easy to prepare as well as being more wholesome than heavier meats, reports Mrs. D. K. Hall, pantry demonstrator for the Ad Hall Home Demonstration Club.

From the 9 culled chickens Mrs. Hall reports canning 14 cans of boned chicken which consists of slices of meat used for salads, sandwiches, creamed chicken, chicken pie and for other table uses. 12 cans of chicken broth for soups and sauces were added to the pantry shelves.

Joe Gerick Making Honor Roll Ft. Worth Business College

The Herald has received a letter from James Anderson, reporter, writing news for the Brantley-Draughtons Business College in Fort Worth telling of the good work being done by Joe Gerick, Jr., of Ad Hall, now a student in that college. The letter follows:

Joe Gerick, Jr., who is attending this college has been on the "A" honor roll from the first month he entered. He is recognized as a bright student, and this he has proved to be true. He also proved to be friendly while attending social doings, and he takes great part in these university club affairs.

His fellow friends of the "College Fraternity" love him, and like to discuss plans with him. This is not the last time you will hear from us about him. We do have other boys who are equal to him, but none of them are from your or his home town.

These words of honor are mailed out each month to the home town paper of students who are highly recognized in their work.

COMPENSATION NOW DUE WAR VICTIMS

It has come to my attention recently that many dependent parents of sons who were killed in the World War, or who died from disease or injuries received in the war, are not receiving compensation because they filed claims years ago and being denied, they have not filed claims since. I wish to call attention to the fact that the laws have been liberalized since then and, although denied compensation previously, they are entitled to it now.

I believe if any one has a just claim against the Federal government, those dependant fathers and mothers who lost their sons in the war have, and an effort should be made to see that those who have overlooked their rights, and have been overlooked, get what they are justly due.

If there be any parents in this community whose sons were killed in the war, or who died as a result of their war service and have failed to secure dependency compensation, I will be glad to file claim for them. I shall also be glad to have any one write me who knows of any of these forgotten parents whose sons were sacrificed in the war, and who are not now receiving monthly payments of compensation.

WE PAY—NEXT DAY

While embers glowed the reconstruction started

Before the flames had reached the telephone switchboard in the little Arkansas town—before the swirling wall of smoke had driven operators from their posts—plans for rebuilding the fire-doomed office were under way.

At a great warehouse in a distant city, men were loading a new switchboard, new telephone cable, new office equipment, into express cars. Nearer to the spot, cable splicers and workmen skilled in telephone construction were being taken from their jobs and rushed toward the office about to be destroyed by fire.

While embers still glowed in the fire-twisted skeleton of the old office, the work of reconstruction was under way.

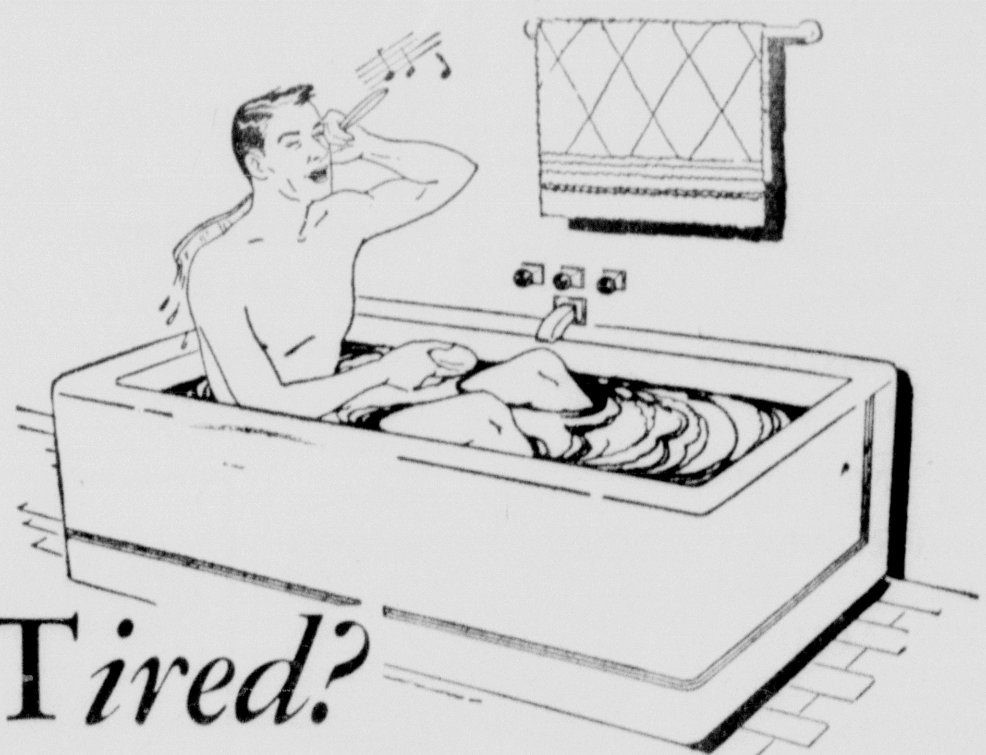

One advantage of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.
